Brand Summary

Williamson Orchards and Vineyards is located along the Sunnyslope Wine Trail within the Snake River Valley AVA. The Williamson family homesteaded this land in 1909 and has been growing fruit on this location for four generations. By relying on our long-history and knowledge of the region, we designed our vineyard to maximize the terroir of our high desert location with the goal of producing stunning wines from high quality grapes. A great deal of time and thought went into the planting of our vines. From vineyard layout to the selection of grape varieties, we wanted to ensure that our site would produce superior grapes.

Our forethought, planning and hard work has paid off. Our small-lot, hand crafted wines have won countless awards and are recognized across the region for quality. We now have over 60+ acres in vineyards, 16 grape varieties and 19 award winning wines. Visit our tasting room to experience some of the great wine being produced in Idaho. Expect a welcoming atmosphere steeped in old-fashioned, farm-charm along with honest and knowledgeable service.

Viticulture Philosophy

The Williamson family planted their first vineyard in 1998, and they did so with the belief that the Snake River Valley terroir was ideal for growing grapes that would result in amazing fruit forward wines. Our primary goal is to “grow the wine” in the vineyard – meaning that everything we do to manage the plants will result in unique and amazing flavors and aromas. Our viticulture philosophy is to combine “old world” tradition with “new world” technology while being good stewards to the land. We maximize the terroir in our vineyards through vineyard design and layout. With a solid vineyard design and a historic understanding of our terroir, the Williamson family utilizes modern techniques, like canopy control, cluster thinning, and water management to foster balance in alcohol, oak, and fruit expression.

Vineyards

The Williamson family farms three vineyard sites, 60+ acres in total, along the slopes of the Snake River Valley. In addition to managing their own vineyards, the Williamson family also consults, manages and does custom farm work with various other vineyards in the Sunnyslope Wine Trail area.
